Four States To Vote On Dry Law Repeal During August

Washington, Aug. 3 (AP)—The citizens of four more states will decide, before the month is out, what they want done about the Eighteenth amendment.

The background for their voting will show that 20 states already have voted to strike prohibition from the constitution while none has taken the opposing position. So far, on the popular vote basis, repeal leads 5,400,000 to 2,500,000, in round numbers.

The ever-shifting line-up of other states yet to vote held certainty today that at least 16 more commonwealths, or 36 in all—the minimum required for repeal—will reach decisions before November 8.

Here is the line-up of states which have set votes during the next four months:

August 5, Arizona; August 19, Missouri; August 26, Texas; August 29, Washington; September 5, Colorado (tentative); and September 12, Maryland and Minnesota; September 19, Idaho and New Mexico; October 10, Florida; November 7, Utah (tentative), North and South Carolina, Pennsylvania and Ohio.

Should both Colorado and Utah act 37 states in all will have voted by November 8. In Colorado, the governor has put the date at September 5, subject to approval by the special session of the state legislature, now meeting.

Although Governor Henry H. Blood, of Utah, has not yet issued formal proclamation in that state for a vote November 7, definite plans have been made to ballot then on both the Eighteenth Amendment and the state prohibition amendment.

Even if one of these states failed to ballot, Governor Frank H. Cooney, of Montana, has indicated he might call for a vote should it be considered necessary.

Otherwise, Cooney said the vote would be put over until the regular primary next July.

In other states also there is possibility of a vote. Governor John G. Pollard, of Virginia, stated recently that he believed his state would ratify the repealing amendment by a considerable majority, and steps are being taken in Virginia to assure a vote.

In Oklahoma, nominees for wet and dry conventions will be selected by congressional district conventions on December 5. Governor W. H. Murray has the power to call a special election after these delegates are selected, but he told newsmen in Washington just the other day that he favored having the election held next year at the general election in his state.

The states that have voted for repeal thus far are Michigan, Wisconsin, Rhode Island, Wyoming, New Jersey, New York, Delaware, Nevada, Illinois, Indiana, Massachusetts, Connecticut, New Hampshire, Iowa, California, West Virginia, Arkansas, Alabama, Tennessee and Oregon.

Scattered deaths swelled the total, and the number of prostrations ran into the hundreds.

Ninety-five degree heat that felled human beings and horses as if by sledgehammer blows combined with high humidity to make New York miserable. Boys opened countless hydrants, resulting in a loss of 2,000,000,000 gallons of water and complaints of low pressure from many householders.

Thousands slept in parks again last night, and Mayor John P. O'Brien announced that 60 docks would be open to the public.

In Elizabeth, N. J., the mercury reached 100 and the sun's rays, pouring through a glass skylight, set a new high. New Haven, Conn., reported six dead since Monday, while a Philadelphia temperature of 97 broke the record for the date. At Quarryville, Pa., the mercury rose to 104.

It was so hot in Richmond, Va., that a burglar who broke into an office to rifle a safe, stole an electric fan instead.

Judge Clearwater Favors Fig Leaf As Hot Weather Attire

Judge Clearwater's reply to a spinster whom he regards as somewhat hypocritical may interest many to whom his letter was not addressed. It is as follows:

Without here discussing the accuracy of your opinion that as President of the Board of Trustees of the old Kingston Academy I have sole and absolute control of the Academy Park and of all that is done there, I beg to say that every afternoon since the warm weather began I have driven past its Albany avenue side and casually have noticed and somewhat envied the children bathing in the basin of its fountain.

Never have I seen an unbecomingly dressed youngster, never have I witnessed an immodest act and in my innocence I assumed the bathers are innocents. However, I accept your most minute inspection that many of them are boys.

Even so as these boys or girls are clothed with that expansion of the fig leaf adopted by Adam and Eve, whom you and I regardless of the speculation of the evolutionists, the materialists, the atheists or of Haeckel, Darwin, Huxley, Tyndall or Spencer regard as the special creation of Divinity and as the progenitors of the human race.

As you are a more accomplished Biblical scholar than I am, you know that an apron of figleaf designed by them was accepted by Jehovah as sufficiently obscuring from the prying gaze of the curious those parts of humanity which all their descendants, whether barbarian or highly cultured, instinctively regard as sacred.

Now these youngsters without exception of sex or age defer to the accepted conception of modesty. All wear an expanded becoming and in many instances handsomely colored double-sided apron the equivalent of the figleaf not readily obtainable in this latitude.

This being true there is no moral or legal reason for my intervention even assuming I have the power to do so. Therefore I hope you will forgive me for inaction.

Your letter recalls an incident in the career of the great director general, Peter Styvessant, who bought from the Esopus Indians the exact spot where this fountain exists.

Hendricus Van Dyke, a well to do Dutch Burgher of Manhattan Island, complained to the director general that his three grown-up daughters greatly were shocked at great big boys nakedly bathing in the collection pond.

Well, said Styvessant, your bewilderment is three furlongs away from that pond, these bathers may all be girls. How do your daughters know they are boys? Ah, said Van Dyke, my girls have a big spyglass.

Respectfully and sincerely yours,
A. T. CLEARWATER.

HIGH SCHOOL BOY IS HELD IN BRUTAL MURDER

San Diego, Calif., Aug. 3 (AP)—Phillip Charles Edwards, 19-year old high school graduate, was held in jail today as a suspect in the mutilation murder of 7-year old Dalbert Aposhian while police checked the closing episodes of his story of the crime.

Captain of Detectives Harry J. Kelly, at first frankly disbelieving the youth but later hearing conviction that he was telling the truth, checked the story in its broad outlines and said he discovered facts which partially verified it.

Edwards first told his story to detectives in Los Angeles where he was picked up as a loiterer Monday and repeated it when brought here. Kelly said the youth told six officers and a shorthand writer that he met Dalbert on a downtown street shortly after noon July 15, the day the boy disappeared from the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Spushian.

The Hotel Ulster Bar will reopen Friday evening.

The Hotel Ulster Bar, closed the past 13 years because of prohibition, will again reopen on Friday, August 4. The hotel management has been making plans for the reopening for some time, and the bar, one of the most popular in Kingston years ago, will once more be open to the public.

The Hotel Ulster will be under the management of Stanley H. Demsey, and associated with him will be Albert H. Cook, for many years connected with the management of the Hotel.

Hyde Park, N. Y., Aug. 3 (AP)—President Roosevelt, pointing out that on August 15 the treasury will have the largest cash balance in its history, moved confidently ahead today with his national recovery and defense plans.

Last night he gave formal approval to the navy's plan to start immediately the construction of 21 new warships on the basis of bids recently submitted. The aim is to put the United States fleet nearer a parity with other world powers.

Today he happily scanned reports from the capital, determined to press to the limit his program to spread work and maintain wages in an unprecedented drive to improve mass purchasing power.

Bank Will Be Opened Tonight, Friday Night For Signing New Plan

Employees of National Ulster County Bank & Trust Co. Will Give Information Regarding Plan—Returns Coming in at a Satisfactory Rate.

The National Ulster County Bank & Trust Co. will be open this evening and Friday evening from seven to nine o'clock for the convenience of depositors and stockholders who wish to sign the necessary papers to carry out the plan which has been approved for the reopening of the bank. Employees of the bank and members of the depositors' committee will be present to assist or to give any information regarding the plan which may be desired.

The blanks and forms are being mailed out as rapidly as possible, but any who may find it convenient to do so are asked to come to the bank and sign without waiting for receipt of forms by mail. There are some 5,000 of these forms and letters to be sent out. This in itself is a big job, but in addition it is necessary to figure up interest in each case from the first of March to the beginning of the bank holiday.

E. Frank Flanagan, chairman of the depositors' committee, states that returns are coming in at a satisfactory rate and in addition interest is being shown in the purchase of stock by "outsiders."

On examination by Mr. Ewig, Paul said he intended to establish a boys' camp at Margaretville, that he engaged Mr. Isaacson to hire a bus for transportation of 32 boys from the day boat to that village and to purchase some food for the camp; also that he gave Mr. Isaacson several checks later to cover the expenses amounting to $50.

The defendant agreed he did not know the status of his account in the Garden City Trust Company when he paid by checks, but presumed he would have enough to meet them when parents of the boys paid camp fees. He had collected $2,800, spent $2,047.13 and anticipated receiving $2,257 due him, but which he has not received because the camp broke up.

Paul also contended he thought he would be able to make good on the checks issued to Isaacson by virtue of a check for $115 he had in his possession when he wrote them. However, after he had issued the checks to Isaacson, a C. O. D. order of tents was delivered to him and he used the $115 in part payment.

Attorney Gleason moved the case against Paul be dismissed on the grounds of insufficient evidence to defraud, but Judge Culliton denied the motion and found the defendant guilty as charged.

It was following the action of Judge Culliton in fining Paul or confining him to the jail that his attorney pleaded for leniency and promised that his client would make good as soon as given the opportunity. Because of the plea and promise to pay Judge Culliton reconsidered the case, paroling Paul in the custody of his attorney for seven days until payment is made. If Paul does not make good he will have to serve the full sentence.

Nature Studied At Generic Camp

Camp Froemaker, August 2.—Nature study at Camp Froemaker, Kingston T. M. C. A. boys' camp on Genesee Lake, has received a new lease of life during the current camping season. Interest of the boys in birds, animals, insects, plants, and ferns has been keener than ever before. One of the requirements for the advanced camp award is the completion of a nature project. The projects are individual. Each boy following the line of his particular interest. The projects chosen reveal the breadth of interest in this phase of camping. These include fungi, lichens and mosses by Bobby Callahan, Samuel Kavan and Clarence Rowland, Jr.; a tree census by Eugene Donnelly and Jack Schultz; and terraria by Harold Canfield, Don McCauland, and Robert Maunsterock. The last named are boxes with a provision for a light to shine through black paper, in which the constellations of stars have been pricked with a pin. This enables the beginner in astronomy to study the constellations in realistic form before searching for them in the heavens. One of the best collections is the moth and butterfly exhibit of Clifford Van Valkenburgh. There is also a fine collection of pressed flowers of the region, gathered and arranged by Mrs. Fuller. One of the most interesting projects in the tree census conducted by Eugene Donnelly and Jack Schultz. Twenty different trees on the camp campus were identified by the boys and a number (made of twigs) nailed to each tree, corresponding to a number on a typed list of the 20 trees which is placed on the bulletin board. Number one was approximately nailed to the big cottonwood tree adjoining Cabin Six, down by the falls. This tree, believed by far the largest and oldest in the region, measures 24 feet in circumference at the base. Near this noble tree is a spring of never-failing clear, cold water.

Much of the interest in nature study has been spontaneous, due, no doubt, to the enthusiasm of a few leaders who early in camp began collecting and displaying to eager-eyed boys materials of all kinds. Thus, without organized classes, the boys "caught" the contagion, and few are the times when a boy cannot be seen running toward the lodge with some treasured specimen of bird's nest (abandoned), moss, flower, lichen, butterfly, moth, beetle, frog, tree toad, and the like. Occasionally at morning chapel, or informally in the field, nature facts are demonstrated and life lessons drawn from them.

One of the phases in which interest has spread throughout the entire camp is the study of butterflies and moths. The boys have learned to distinguish between these two kinds of lepidoptera. They know that most moths spin cocoons, while most butterflies do not; that all butterflies have antennae ("feelers") with clubs or knobs on the end, while moths' antennae are feathery or long and tapering; that moths' bodies are usually stout and those of butterflies usually slender; that most moths fly by night and butterflies by day. They know something of color mimicry, such as that of the Viceroy butterfly. The Viceroy imitates in color and markings the larger Monarch or Milkweed butterfly. Besides the two named, the butterfly collection includes the Giant, Tiger and Palamedes Swallow-tails, the Red-spotted and Hand- and Purple, the Silver-spotted Skipper, the Common Wood-nymph, the Red Admiral and others. Moths are represented by the following among the larger species: Yellow Emperor, Luna and Polyphemus among the non-feeders, and the Sweetheart, Garden-Fly moth and Bloody-nose among the feeders.

Saugerties Area Has Rattlesnakes

George Teetsel of West Saugerties reported that he killed two rattlesnakes the early part of this week. He discovered one in his garage Sunday morning and killed another Monday night near his home. Both measured four feet in length.

Then from the Blue Mountain region another report comes that John Daly killed a large rattler Monday in his quarry in the mountains. The snake had twelve rattles. This is the second rattler killed there. The other had 14 rattles.

Karl Werner Slaying Believed Accidental

Bremervallen, Germany, Aug. 3 (AP).—Detectives said today that they regarded as accidental the slaying of Karl Werner Heye, young New York broker, aboard the liner Bremen at sea last Sunday.

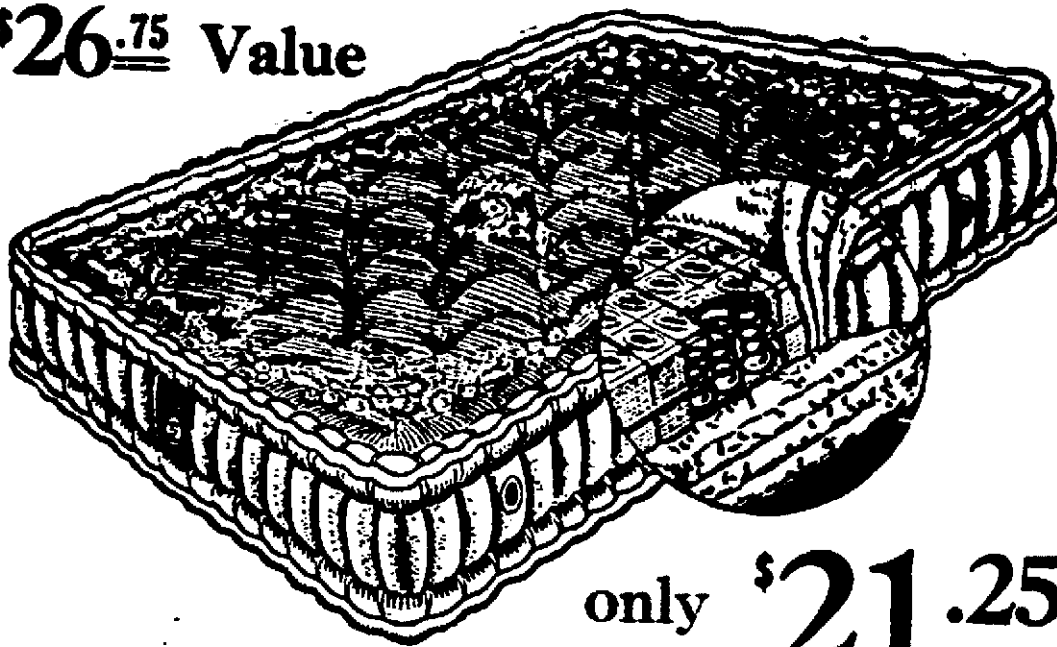

Charles Manger, of Los Angeles, who was detained aboard the ship pending completion of the investigation into Heye's death, probably will be released shortly. He plans to return to the United States aboard the Bremen August 7.

New rules, called the most drastic in the history of the exchange, were promulgated last night. They make margin requirements specific and high—59 per cent on small accounts and 30 per cent on larger ones.

Full information as to pools, syndicates, joint accounts and options will be required weekly. The rules also aim to protect customers against undesirable speculation at home. Furthermore new customers must be approved by the exchange and will work on a minimum salary instead of a straight commis-

The Long And Short Of The Grain Trade

Publicity For Big Deals Opposed In Contest Against Futures Act

By FRANK J. WELLES

Washington (AP)—The grain trade is moving in one direction to regulate speculation before the government does it and in another to get out from under the grain futures administration altogether.

At the same time operators were agreeing with officials of the department of agriculture to limit the range of daily fluctuations in the futures market. An action in behalf of a Chicago grain company was on file in the supreme court of the United States contesting the constitutionality of the grain futures act.

A 12-Year Battle

The private grain trade has protested government supervision from the time the futures trading act was passed in 1921. That particular law was held unconstitutional by the supreme court but it was followed the next year by the grain futures act which the court upheld in a test case filed by the Chicago board of trade.

Pending decision in the present Chicago action the trade will, under its agreement with the government, permit wheat prices to move only 5 cents up or down in any one day and will require larger margins for speculative accounts in an effort to curtail recurrence of such liquidation as hit the market on July 26, when wheat prices broke 17 cents a bushel under the heaviest sales in the history of the Chicago exchange.

Wheat Price Had Doubled

Days of steady increases had more than doubled the price of wheat at its lowest point, and numerous speculators were pyramiding their profits on narrow margin. When values started down the weakness of such

The two smaller charts show what has happened to Chicago closing wheat prices in two instances when the government suspended reports of deals of 500,000 bushels or more. The lower chart shows the preponderance of short sales, represented by the black areas below the line.

positions unloaded a flood of contracts, a record total of 269,432,000 bushels—more than enough wheat to feed the nation for half a year—changing hands in a day's time. In addition to a general code of procedure for grain exchange. President Roosevelt insisted on restoring the practice of reporting to the government all trades involving more than 50,000 bushels of wheat. The reports suspended in 1932 had been considered a necessary means to curb the department of agriculture in position to increase and prevent possible manipulation of prices and other abuses.

Short Side Predominates

Grain dealers had insisted that each regulation in the grain futures administration resulted in lowering prices and said that if the reports were suspended the big operation would come in on the buying side. Records subsequently showed the big operators had not been out of the market, but for the greater part of the period from April, 1933, to October, 1933, had been on the short side.

Instead of going up when the reports were suspended, prices went down to previously unknown levels. The December future closed at 45 1/2 cents a bushel in Chicago on the day it was announced reports would be discontinued. Within 10 days the price was down 6 1/2 cents a drop of 14.2 per cent.

Same Result in 1927

The same thing happened to May wheat when reports were suspended in 1927. On the twenty-second day following suspension the price was off 5 1/2 cents.

Short selling in itself is not a violation of the law, regardless of the quantity sold. Dr. J. W. T. Duvel, chief of the grain futures administration, holds short selling, with its abuses eliminated, necessary to legitimate hedging.

Annual Report of County Commander Robert Browning

Following is the annual report of Robert Browning, county commander of the American Legion.

Comrades:
The past year has been one of grave problems that have increased the very structure of our institutions and of our government itself. Economically, we have faced conditions more disheartening than any of us have ever known. For our country, for our organization and for ourselves, it has been a year without precedent; experience set no guide. Tonight, the Legionnaires of Ulster county commence a new year, imbued with courage, determination and faith, that in service to our community, our state and our nation, the coming 12 months will be one of splendid achievement.

During the past year, the burden of welfare work has overshadowed all other usual Legion activities. Our posts have supplied food, lodging, clothing, medical attention, and other forms of relief to our needy comrades, to an extent undreamed of in other years. The drastic changes in the laws affecting our disabled comrades have placed an extremely heavy burden of work on our county service officer, Comrade Elmendorf. Both he and county welfare officer, Comrade Finnerty, have given most liberally of their time to their arduous duties. Their services should be an inspiration to every Legionnaire. It would be impossible in the time at my disposal to even list all the various types of welfare work and relief work undertaken by the Legionnaires of Ulster county. We have truly kept the faith with our comrades in need, and with the widows and orphans of ex-service men.

Our splendid efforts in relief work were only made possible by the hearty cooperation of the Ulster county Legion Auxiliary. Last year, at the county convention, our retiring commander referred to that organization as "the best in the state." This year, I must say of them, "Better than ever." There are few Legion activities in which they are not our right hand. In welfare work, they are often both of our hands. It is a great pleasure at this time to extend to the Ulster County Legion Auxiliary president, Mrs. Stanley Matthews, and to all the ladies of that organization, our sincere thanks. Due to the large number of our members who are either totally unemployed or suffering severely from the financial situation, our Posts this year omitted the usual membership drives. The actual number of paid-up memberships for the year shows a sharp drop from the number enrolled at the same time last year, yet hundreds of loyal Legionnaires, who have been financially unable to pay their dues, are carrying on their good work in their own Posts. We have suffered no drop in active working members. It is very gratifying to note the unusually large number of ex-service men who have heretofore never belonged to the American Legion, who have this year joined with us for the first time.

During the past year the county organization has been splendidly entertained by six Posts and their Auxiliaries. At these meetings we have had the privilege of entertaining numerous distinguished guests. Of special interest has been the exchange of visits by delegates from Orange, Dutchess and Greene counties. Ulster county has been well represented during the past year at the state convention and at all state functions, as well as at all district meetings. Your commander has had the privilege of speaking of the Legion before a number of dinner clubs, churches and other organizations. It has been a pleasure to tell the fascinating story of the American Legion and its work.

The parade and ceremonies connected with the presentation of the Order of the Purple Heart by General Harbord to one of our comrades was the largest and most successful demonstration the Ulster County Legion has ever put on. The work of the committee in charge of this celebration, under the chairmanship of Comrade Heiselman, was perfect. During the past 12 months our organization participated in the dedication of a monument to the men who enlisted in the World War from the town of Rosendale; and also at the dedication of a memorial flagpole at Catskill.

The rally and reception, on the occasion of the annual visit of the department commander, was unfortunately marred by a bad storm. But those who were able to attend, enjoyed a most inspiring message by our leader.

The annual stag dinner was, this year, the largest yet, and, in some ways, the most successful. To Comrade Beichert and the workers of the committee in charge of this dinner, are due our sincere thanks for the hearty work they did in putting over this dinner.

Memorial Day ceremonies were participated in by eight posts; and every post in the county was active in decorating the graves of veterans. Memorial services for the county organizations were conducted by the county chaplain, Comrade Schmitt, at the Bethany Chapel at the corner of Washington avenue and North Front street.

The Kingston Post Drum Corps has turned out loyally at every demonstration. We owe this fine organization the same liberal support it has given to us. During the past year, the Junior Drum Corps of the Saugerties Post has procured its uniforms; and they have turned out for the Legion on several occasions. Saugerties is developing, in these boys, a wonderful organization, and we can expect much of them.

Despite the depression, two junior baseball teams were put into the field this season. The Kingston Post and the Phoenix Post have, with the cooperation of Athletic Officer, Buchanan, once more demonstrated our interest in the boys of Ulster county.

In the legislative field, your county was most active in support of the so-called Buckmaster amendment to the "Wheat Bill." This amendment ended an unenforced discrimination against veterans in town and city relief. It has also made available for return from the state to the several towns of Ulster county considerable sums expended on relief work. Under the chairmanship of Comrade Beichert of Elmerville, a special committee has been working with state authorities to establish a true veteran and local labor preference on all road work constructed under the Federal Aid Act.

This has not been a year of spectacular achievement by the county organization. It is easy to look back and see many "lines of commission and omission." However, the county officers and the chairmen of standing committees have done the best they could under the circumstances, and I wish to take this occasion to thank them most sincerely for their loyal co-operation under trying circumstances.

As county commander, I bid you farewell, in a spirit of humility. Be thankful with my efforts. I have done the best I could. And believe me when I say that I am proud to have served you during the year in which you so gallantly served our disabled and needy comrades, our community and our nation.

Talks to parents

By STROCKE PETERS CHURCH

Every mother knows the world-wide importance of the baby's first conscious smile, and the long discussions as to whether it really was a smile or a passing twinge of pain. But so few of these same mothers realize the interest in the child's smiling after childhood is over.

To me a very striking sign is the number of little children, even toddlers, who do not know how to laugh. Some of them can smile, but too few ever add to the age-old laughter which childhood should know.

Mothers will say, "My child has no sense of humor," and let it go at that, never realizing the full meaning of their admission. For there is nothing more valuable to a child in its journey through life than a sense of humor. Its possession can make rough places smooth.

Many an impending tragedy has been averted by some ridiculous incident that induced laughter; a business has often been kept off the rocks by a touch of fun; and if the sometimes tragic young creatures who crowd our divorce courts could laugh at the situations which after a little thought will seem trivial, many homes would not be broken.

A sense of humor, like any other sense, can be developed, and often from the most unpromising material. Not all senses of humor are alike, however.

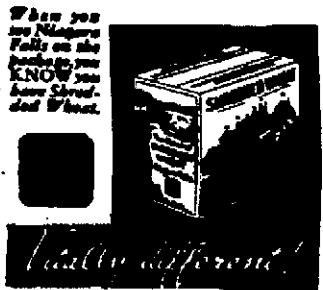

The wise parent will study his child's reactions to fun, and while cultivating them assiduously, will try to develop in him a tolerance and appreciation of other kinds of humor, until in time he can react to them also.

It is amazing how much can be done if we give the same attention to the child's first laughter that we give to the baby's first smile.

There is a difference of opinion as to whether our new leisure will make more demands on the library or the sporting page.

More Butterflies in the Rain

New York—If you have to be out in all sorts of weather, it follows that more than one raincoat is necessary, if for no other reason, than because of the change in temperature.

Some of the smartest raincoats are of crepe, treated, of course, so that they are rainproof. The one shown is a more sturdy, workmanlike variety, and daintily military. So many things, other than raincoats, are just in New Palm.

And speaking of stormy weather, reminds me to mention that shoe makers are busily engaged turning out novelty oxfords and shoes that are going to cover the insteps next winter. They are going to have from one to five eyelets, or, believe it or not, buttons. And this again makes me tell you that slippers are to be brightly buckled. The shoe buckle, long absent from the scene, is being introduced on slippers and pumps intended for going places calling for one's best clothes and one's best foot forward. Mirror glass is one of the novelties.

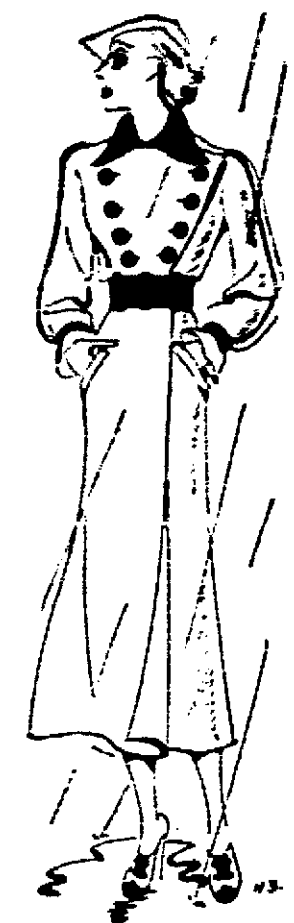

Although reports from Paris are to the effect that chic women are wearing stockings as nearly matching the skin as possible, this need not upset your plans for ordering darker hose for fall. The flesh idea is only important because of the exposed necks and arms, short sleeves being a Parisienne preference. Our better class shops insist that the hose trend is toward darker colors. There are a few mesh novelties being worn but the majority of women find plain, sheer silk more kindly.

Mesh gloves, however, have had, and are still having, a considerable vogue. Reports of very long, and very elegant sleeves, crinkling up the arm to the elbow must be made.

Wear Something Simple

Keep children young. Help them to make the most of their early youth. Designers of clothes for the young are taking the matter seriously to judge the increased attention extended the classic types of school dresses. Not that styles of this character ever retire, since they are worn year in and year out by the well-dressed child, but for the coming fall they make a stronger impression collectively.

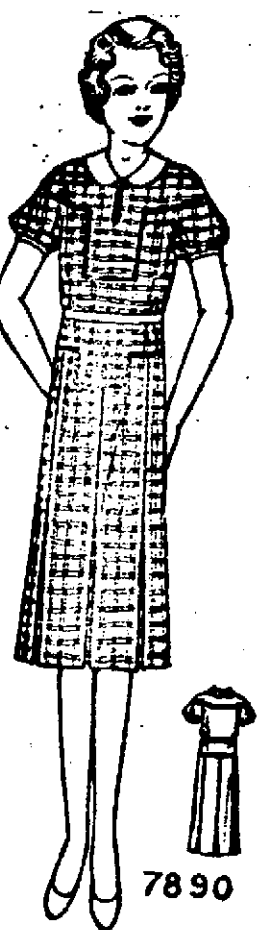

This movement away from too sophisticated types for the growing school child, has been developing more strongly with each year. Added impetus has been afforded by grown-up fashions that have freely borrowed from the more youthful styles.

Is Paris Trying to Make a Monkey of Us?

While our first renewal of acquaintance with monkey fur was made chiefly as a trimming on coats, and in connection with shoulders and necklines, the new development accents it as a trimming on dresses, and what is newer, as a sleeve divertissement.

This shaggy black silky fur is employed around the elbows or above, and sometimes an entire sleeve from a point a few inches below the shoulders is made of the fur—the fur appearing nowhere else on the dress.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

A Pleasing School Frock.

7890. The becoming drop shoulder line is featured in this model, in yoke portions that are shaped to form a panel over the centre front of the waist. This shaping is repeated in the lower part of the waist where it joins a very attractive skirt in which plaits supply additional fullness. Short puff sleeves are cut in one with the waist portions. A neat girlish collar finishes the neck edge. Novelty gingham was chosen for this style, with white organdy for collar, belt and sleevebands. One could make this dress of pique, or percale. Dotted Swiss is also suggested.

It is designed in 4 sizes: 6, 8, 10 and 12. Size 10 will require 2 yards of 35 inch material with 1/2 yard of contrasting material. To trim with piping or with 1 1/2 inch bias binding will require 2 2/3 yards.

A really stable prosperity might be based on five-cent ice cream soda.

Elverhøj Mystery
Drama Pleases All

A packed house greeted the University Players at the Elverhøj Theatre Wednesday evening to see the comedy-drama, "Whistling in the Dark", and so well was the production done that record audiences are likely to continue to attend during the remainder of the week while the play is being presented.

"Whistling in the Dark", is the story of a detective story author, who with his timid fiancée is held by a group of gangsters, until he can produce one of his crime stories containing a "perfect murder," one that may be used to "rub out" a certain prominent official of the crime commission who has been harassing that gang of late.

Just what the young author does in the way of manufacturing a perfect crime, and how with the odds against him, the perfect murder is solved before any murder is committed is a unique and thrilling plot to watch, and with a wealth of humor the otherwise seriousness of the play turns into entertainment of the most enjoyable sort.

The young actors at the Elverhøj seemed to be in their element in this production, and they sparkled with wit and excellent acting. To date it is the most enjoyed thing that the University Players have attempted, and a vehicle well worth seeing.

Gilberts Here Child.

Hollywood, Calif., Aug. 3 (P).— John Gilbert, the actor, can't be credited with much originality when his wife bore him a bouncing daughter at a Hollywood hospital last night. "I am," said he, "the happiest man in the world." Mrs. Gilbert is the former Virginia Bruce, actress. The child weighed 7 pounds, 5 ounces.

NOW WOMEN
CAN WIN MEN AND MEN WIN

The Favor of Other Men Editor: Two years of the most famous play in the world, "The Favor of Other Men," is now being produced at the Elverhøj Theatre.
This play is a masterpiece of drama, and it is a pity that it is not more widely known. It is a play that will win the hearts of all who see it. It is a play that will make you think and feel. It is a play that will make you love it. It is a play that will make you want to see it. It is a play that will make you want to win it. It is a play that will make you want to be like it. It is a play that will make you want to be a man.
It is a play that will make you want to be a woman. It is a play
that will make you want to be like it. It is a play that will make you want to be a man.
It is a play that will make you want to be a woman. It is a play
that will make you want to be like it. It is a play that will make you want to be a man.

At The Theatres

Today

Kingston: "Hell Below." Action-brim drama, entertaining, tense and gripping from the first flicker to the last, is this tale of the sea. Robert Montgomery, playing the role of a junior officer on a submarine, is in love with the married daughter of the submarine commander. The submarine commander, brilliantly played by Walter Huston, and the girl, capably handled by Madge Evans, both turn in excellent performances. It's the story of the war beneath the sea, bringing out all the dangers of submarine warfare as well as all the thrills that go with it. Big in every detail, with perfect photography, realistic sound effects, and thrills upon thrills, this story moves along with the speed and brilliance of lightning. Robert Montgomery, Madge Evans, Walter Huston, Robert Young, Jimmy Durante and Eugene Pallette are all of the exceptional cast.
Orpheum: "Age of Consent" and "With Williamson beneath the Sea." Eric Linden, Arline Judge, Richard Cromwell, Dorothy Wilson and John Halliday are the principal youthful players in this story of modern morals and ways of the younger generation today. Youth, its cares, its troubles, and its romance, are all brought before the camera, and Dorothy Wilson emerges as one of the year because of her excellent performance. Not one of the newer talkies, but interesting and different. "With Williamson beneath the Sea" is more or less of an educational picture, with some interesting camera studies of marine life.
Broadway: "The Devil's Brother" and "King of the Jungle." Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy go through their comical gyrations in this full length talkie with a medieval setting. This talkie is also a musical, with Dennis King leading the melodies, and it is good proof that music and comedy go well together if intelligently handled. With a plot not unlike Robin Hood, some excellent songs, and the continued laughs that Laurel and Hardy create, along with Thelma Todd added to the cast for the sake of beauty, this show is enjoyable entertainment. "King of the Jungle" follows the "Tarzan" pattern, and Buster Crabbe, another noted swimmer, has the leading role of the untamed "Lion Man." Mr. Crabbe it seems has been reared by lions since babyhood, and one day he roams around the tropical countryside with his lion pals, he is captured and sold to a circus. He remains very wild until Frances Dee tames him in the best feminine manner.

Tomorrow

Kingston: Same.
Orpheum: "A Bedtime Story" and "Tombstone Canyon." Maurice Chevalier, the gentleman who won immortal film fame by commercializing on an underling lower lip, scores again in this comedy drama of a wealthy French nobleman who finds a baby left in his car, and who runs into all kinds of difficulty when he decides to keep the baby in his apartment. The best part of the show is the capable dramatics of Baby LeRoy, who makes some of the leading Hollywood stars look like novices. Maurice Chevalier is the same as ever, an engaging comedian who sings and acts in his own inimitable style. Edward Everett Horton is perfect in the role of the butler, while Helen Twelvetrees lends her beauty to the romantic side of the story. "Tombstone Canyon" with Ken Maynard and Tarzan, the wonder horse, is one of those mystery western attractions with action in large doses.
Broadway: Same.

The new social idea seems to be that the world not only owes every man a living, but shouldn't have to be damned so hard for it.

STONE RIDGE

Stone Ridge, Aug. 3.—The monthly business meeting and sewing circle of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Reformed Church will be held Thursday of this week at the home of Mrs. Eva Sherman at 2:30. This meeting is of importance as final preparations will be made for the annual sale of fancy articles and food stuffs.

A goodly sized audience enjoyed the special program offered by Dr. James Cantline on Sunday evening in the Reformed Church. Dr. Cantline garbed in real Arab costume vividly portrayed an Arab family of the present day in Bagdad. In monologue he gave the various impressions of the Arab mind in regard to the various missionary agencies with which he comes in contact. It was an evening both entertaining and instructive. Out of the vast experience of 27 years of labor among the Arabs the speaker made every moment realistic.

On Sunday in the Reformed Church Dr. James Cantline will conduct the worship. Sunday school will be omitted for the next two Sundays. Morning worship at 10 o'clock. Christian Endeavor at 7 p. m. The topic will be "How Far Does Nature Fear God?" The leader will be Miss Alberta Davis. ## Will Tell All Details If O'Connell's Uncle Continues his Silence

Local Supt. Albany Attorney, Dan O'Connell's Family Could Clear Up All Matters—Between Secret Acted in Good Faith.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 2 (AP)—Local Supt. Albany Attorney, Dan O'Connell, who has been silent since the O'Connell kidnap case today threatened to "tell the world" all the details of the case if Dan O'Connell, uncle of the abducted boy, continues his silence.

Snyder declared that statements made by Dan O'Connell, John T. Delaney were putting him "in a bad light" and that the family of John J. O'Connell, Jr., could clear up matters if they desired.

He referred particularly to Delaney's remark that Snyder and his client, Edward J. O'Connell, Jr., had been in the city for a long time last Friday when they set out for New York City with $4,500 in ransom money for the kidnapers of the young National Guard lieutenant.

Snyder said that the O'Connells were informed of every move in the negotiations. He had previously asserted that he entered the case only to help the Democratic leaders, Dan and Dan O'Connell, who are his friends. His efforts to reach Dan at his Heidelberg Mountain camp have failed, he said.

"It's time for Dan O'Connell to speak out," Snyder remarked. "I rendered him service in acting in the case. He owes it to Stew and me and to the country at large to come out and say whether he regards our services of value, or not. I am being placed in a wrong light by this policy of silence. So is Stew whose head is at stake in this case. I think Stew acted in good faith throughout. He should either prefer charges against Snyder or release him. Certainly it is up to Dan O'Connell to say something."

It was understood that Stew was to be returned to the vicinity of Albany today from New York where he was taken yesterday by metropolitan and federal agents to look over pictures in the Roke's Gallery in an attempt to identify gangsters with whom he dealt. Captain Richard Oliver, head of the New York city under cover squad assigned to the case, and Thomas F. Cullen, department of justice agent, were also expected back in Albany.

Mr. and Mrs. McLaren were callers in this place last week.

Associated Gas and Electric agent was called to Jay Gould's place last week after the electric storm, as the lights were out at their place.

Bloom, the doctor's office building which in pre-warworks years stood under a great sugar maple tree adjoining his residence, having been used by Dr. Schutt in his law practice 70 years ago and more. Miss Schutt, though totally blind for the past year, is enjoying good health, while retaining a remarkably clear recollection of people and events of the old days in the town of Olive. Although not a relative of the Winchells she has made her home with members of that family for the past 50 years. Cork Oaks Long Producers

Cork is the outer bark of the cork oak, of which there are vast forests in Portugal, Spain and North Africa. A tree must be about twenty years old before it gives its first or so-called virgin cork. The next harvest is not ready for stripping for nearly a decade, but this stripping, too, is of little commercial value. The product from each subsequent stripping of the tree, however, improves in quality. When a tree reaches the age of forty years, its bark may be called high-grade cork. Cork oaks produce for more than a century.

Wood's Pitching Enables Herzogs To Defeat Hogans

The two cellar teams of the City League battled it out at the Athletic Field Wednesday evening and after the game was over the Van Etten & Hogan Trainers found themselves at the bottom of the ladder while the Herzog Hardwaremen were moved up a peg by virtue of a 5 to 2 win over the Trainers.

Art Wood, one-armed hurler of the Hardwaremen who tossed them from the postcard, was the main cog in the victory. He held the Trainers to five hits and for the first three innings was invincible. Besides holding the opponents at bay he drove in a run with a single in the second inning, which later proved to be the winning counter.

Johnny Burgevin was Wood's opponent and was hit hard throughout the contest. Eleven hits were made off his delivery. While Burgevin wasn't allowing hits he was fanning the batters, 19 of them going down before his slants.

The Hardwaremen scored as early as the first inning. Singles by E. Burgevin and Flanagan, a walk to Lecki and another single by Howard netted two runs. They scored one more in the second, four in the third and two in the fifth.

A double by Jimmy Turk and a single by Stewart gave the Trainers their first run in the fourth frame. Stewart's single and Keator's triple accounted for their other run in the sixth.

Three of the Trainers' infielders didn't have a chance in the field, which is unusual, especially when a first baseman goes without a try.

Schryver's Lumbermen, pace-setters in the second half, will have an opportunity of running their winning streak to seven straight when they meet the Gardeners tonight.

Schryvers vs. Gardeners Tonight
The Schryver Lumbermen and the Crystal Gardeners are slated to meet at the Athletic Field this evening. The Lumbermen need but two games to clinch the second half championship of the City League and will send their pitching ace, Big Ed Wilson, to the mound to try and cop this game. The Gardeners also will use their ace, R. Smith, to oppose Wilson. Bill Thomas, who has been doing good work in the box for the Gardeners, will be held in reserve.

Saratoga Races Open 70th Season

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 3 (AP)—Here on the fringe of the Adirondack Mountains, King Thoroughbred and his return today began a 27-day reign with the greatest of the 1933 equine rulers, C. V. Whitney's Equipoise, holding the spotlight out at the flower bordered track on Union avenue.

It has been 70 years since the famous horse, Kentucky, captured the first running of America's oldest stake, the Travers, here but time has brought few changes since the first meeting of less than a week was held. The famous gambling halls have passed on together with many of the great plungers. There are still the rambling old hotels, elm covered Broadway and the cross section of metropolitan society and turf life.

The cottages and stately mansions, and the hotels today were well filled, indicating the Spa would enjoy one of its most successful seasons in recent years.

The stakes around the brown theodoric grandstand were filled to capacity with the leading runners of the country. Before the meeting ends, September 2, 27 stakes will have been run in an effort to settle the championship of the various divisions. As a climax to the many juvenile stakes, the $10,000 Hopeful will be run on the last day.

Tagging Major League Bases

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

The Pittsburgh Pirates and St. Louis Cardinals, both battling to get to the top of the National League standings, appear to have developed the same sort of scrappy spirit which aided the Washington Senators in their climb to the American League lead but at times brought still penalties.

Twice in the past two days the rivalry between the Pirates and the Cards has broken out into full force and they have taken time out to break with the umpires even officers. But so far their series is all even, the Pirates are three games behind the league leading New York Giants and the Cards are twice as far back.

It was Bill Walker, St. Louis southpaw, and Floyd "Arky" Vaughan, Young Pirate shortstop, who started the fireworks yesterday after they had collided on the bases in the ninth inning. With the Bucs one run behind and Paul Waner on base, Vaughan hit into a double play and crashed into Walker, as the pitcher beat him to first or the play. As in Tuesday's scrap between Steve Swetonic and George Watkins, they were separated after a few swings, but in the meantime Waner went on home. The dispute, rated for 15 minutes as Umpire George Mazerkurth first allowed the run, then reversed his decision.

When they finally resumed, Waner was sent back to third, scored on Leo Durocher's error, then the Cards went on to win 4 to 3 in the 12th when Joe Medwick singled Frank Frisch home. The defeat ended Pittsburgh's eight game winning streak and dropped the Bucs a little further behind the Giants, who split a pair of slugfests with the Phillies. The Giants, who occasionally have been accused of being "hitless wonders," slammed out 24 hits to win the second game 18 to 1 after the combination of a dozen hits and five New York errors had given the Phils a 13 to 6 triumph despite two homers by Mel Ott.

The Chicago Cubs remained ahead of the Cards by whaling their old "Jinx" Red Lucas in the first inning to score four runs and defeat the Cincinnati Reds 10 to 6.

The Boston Braves got an even break with the Brooklyn Dodgers in a doubleheader although they were out in both games. They pounded Walter Beck's slinging for an 8-5 victory in the opener but Van Mungo stopped them with five hits and Brooklyn won the second clash 3-1.

A sudden hitting revival on part of the Philadelphia Athletics helped the Washington Senators to double their lead over New York in the American League race. Washington turned back the Boston Red Sox 2-1 when they backed up Al Crowder's four hit hurling with a homer by Dave Harris and a ninth inning rally against Bob Kline. The A's hit four Yankee pitchers with everything but the bat bag, piling up 19 hits to win 16 to 3 and shatter a six game losing streak.

The Cleveland Indians stayed on the Athletics' heels by putting over eight runs in the ninth after St. Louis had tied the score and beating the Browns 16-8. The Chicago White Sox staged a big advance with two last minute victories over the Detroit Tigers, 2-1 and 4-3. Charles Berry's homer in the ninth gave Sam Jones the decision over Fred Marberry in the opener and Evar Swanson's double with two out in the ninth drove in the tally that won the second game.

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN J. COULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor)

Halcyon Willie Moody's loss of her first tennis set in six years to Dorothy Smith Round of England in the final of the Wimbledon championships may have been due largely to the unfortunate incident of the lineamen in calling a decisive point against her, but the detailed analysis we have just received from London shows a relatively close match all the way.

Mrs. Moody's margin in games was 15 to 10, but she scored only 20 more points than Miss Round in the three sets. The baseline character of the American star's game is reflected by the fact that while Miss Round's winning strokes (aces and placements) were considerably greater, 31 to 10 in the second set and 15 to 11 in the third, Mrs. Moody made only half as many errors ("nets" and "outs").

Miss Round won 12 and lost four service games while Mrs. Moody won 14 and lost three. There were 14 deuce games, including seven in the second set, but all four of the "love" games were won by the American.

"During the seven times Mrs. Moody has entered for the singles championship at Wimbledon," notes a British commentator, "she has lost altogether 155 games. Miss Lengien, in her eight years of competition, lost 101 games, but in two of those years, 1920 and 1921, Suzanne as the titleholder did not play through, competing only in the challenge match. Miss Lengien's best year was 1925, when she sacrificed only five games in five rounds. Here are the games lost by Mrs. Moody:

Year	Games	Year	Games
1924	27	1930	19
1927	39	1932	13
1928	15	1933	33
1929	16

Still Have One

"In these days, when our records in sport are being snatched from us by invaders," remarks another British writer, "may I recall that we still hold the record for the women's singles championship of lawn tennis? This is not held by Mrs. Moody and Miss Lengien, with six wins each, but by Mrs. Lambert Chambers, with seven wins.

"Mrs. Chambers won the title in 1903, 1904, 1906, 1910, 1911, 1913 and 1914—three times as Dorothea K. Douglass and four times after her marriage."

Mangan His Choice

The 4:05 or 4:06 mile is perfectly possible, thinks Frank Kanaly, Yale's track coach, but he doesn't agree with the majority that the man most likely to achieve it is Lovelock Bonthron or Cunningham.

"I think if a man is to hit 4:06 it may be Joe Mangan of Cornell," Kanaly told George Carens of the Boston Transcript. "His 9:15.4 in the two-mile (at Princeton) was phenomenal running. I think Mangan might beat both Lovelock and Bonthron before they hang up their shoes. He is well made, a little longer gaited, smooth as silk and a little more lively than Lovelock. It may sound funny, but I mean just that."

Mangan's best time for the mile is 4:14 4-5, made at Berkeley, California, in the 1932 intercollegiate. He never ran two miles in college competition until the meet with Oxford-Cambridge and then surpassed the official American outdoor record.

Crystal Gardens' Batting Record

Manager Ashdown Issues Team's Batting Record Which Shows Port Ewan Has a Tough Squad to Meet Sunday on the Pan Am Diamond.

The batting record of the Crystal Garden team has a few men going over the 400 mark and one with 500 which reveals the potency of the Crystal's stick waggling. Few pitchers have been really effective against Ashdown's boys, so it appears as if the twirler for the Port Ewan Firemen Sunday afternoon will have his feet in hot water. However, before the fray there will be a little cheering up by the Port Ewan Firemen's drum corps with a drill and music. The entertainment and game will take place on the Pan Am diamond on the Saenger's road.

Port Confident

Port feels confident she can come through against the heralded Crystal nine. Reports say that the Firemen's squad is in good shape and that Manpello, the village moundmen, is impatiently waiting for the time to come when he can display his tricks from the hill.

The Firemen are packed with T. N. T. and hope to blow the lid off the Crystals' barrel of good records and recross the creek with the baseball world spinning on its ear and ringing with the report of their devastating upset of Kingston's leading ball club.

Batting Record

Carpenter with his .590 per cent batting average leads the Crystals and many of his team mates travel close at his heels in the four hundred hits. Carpenter leads in three base hits also having three to his credit and Luke Roosa is second with 2, while Tiano, Joyce, Bassett, Thomas and Begewich have one.

Bassett and Joyce have two home runs apiece and Feldmesser one. Tiano leads in two base hits with six; Carpenter, Bassett and Roosa have five apiece; Thomas and Niles four.

Water Toting a Common Sight.

Shoken, Aug. 3.—Men, women and children carrying water along the main street is a common sight these days, what with so many wells and springs dry or too low for supplying safe drinking water. Henry Carlson's well still has five feet of water which is considerably less than it held during last summer's drought. The schoolhouse well at Ashokan is supplying several families, as is also the good spring of George Giles's back fields south of the state road. Similar conditions existed during the early part of August, 1909, at which time the old residents were declaring they "never knew such a drought." Meantime, the well drillers are making hay while the sun shines and a number of local residents are having new wells dug or their old ones deepened.

Menjou Agrees on Divorce.

Los Angeles, Aug. 3 (AP).—That suave gentleman of the drawing room movie, Adolph Menjou, has pulled a tight rein on his personal affairs in the public records by an agreement with his wife which will permit her a divorce by default. For the small sum of $5,000—he already had given her $150,000 as a property settlement—Mrs. Menjou agreed yesterday to amend her divorce complaint to eliminate all mention of another woman in the life of the actor.

FAMOUS PAINTER ON VISIT TO WILLE FARM.

William R. Leigh, nationally famous painter and author, is a guest at the Wille farm in Lake Katrine, where he is painting landscapes and cattle. Mr. Leigh is a specialist in women subjects, having painted in the past 25 years a number of canvases depicting the cow-pony. These paintings are considered very unique. However, they are not for sale and none has ever been out of the artist's possession, except one owned by the Prince of Wales. Mr. Leigh is also an author and soon one of his latest books, "The Western Pony," will be on the market. He illustrated it himself.

Milk Farmer Attacked.

Amsterdam, N. Y., Aug. 3 (AP).—Benjamin Rytell, a milk farmer, was severely beaten and seriously injured last night by a band of night riders who attacked him because he had refrained from joining the milk strike.

July Rainfall Only One-Third Normal

City Engineer's Department Records a Total Monthly Rainfall of 1.45 Inches—Third Month of Drought.

The July rainfall recorded by the gauging station operated by the city engineer's department gives a total monthly rainfall of only 1.45 inches. This is only one-third of the amount normally received during July and marks the third consecutive month of the present drought. During these three months of drought only 3.69 inches of rain has fallen whereas twelve inches would be normal for that same period.

Rain fell on seven days of the month over a total time period of 36 hours 36 minutes. Four of the storms came from the south or from the Rondout and Hudson valleys and the remainder from the north moring down the Hudson. All storms took place during exceedingly high temperatures and were mostly local storms of convection.

Three storms developed considerable intensity, July 24 recording a maximum intensity of 4.6 inches per hour for a nine minute period. These intensities of July's storms were fairly uniform and were the most intense since April 1.

Frost in Six Weeks.

If there is any truth in the old saying, "Six weeks until frost when you hear the katyids," there will be frost in this vicinity early in September. Residents of Kingston and rural districts heard katyids Monday and Tuesday.

Dance and Supper.

FACTS YOU SHOULD KNOW

All the new stocks of furniture in the store of Stock & Cordts will be held as long as possible at the present low prices for such quality merchandise, which are only possible because they were purchased in the markets at the time when there were no efforts made to advance cost.

Without seeking to rush anyone into buying things they may not actually need at this time, it would seem to be in the interest of our friends and customers to decide now what special needs they may require in the near future, and have the opportunity to save the difference in cost between the present prices now quoted and what the same quality goods are likely to advance to in value for the fall markets.

Kindly read this suggestion from us carefully, and act accordingly as your judgment may dictate.
